AHSS 1130 / Is my article sociological?

For your digital posters you are required to use two peer-reviewed articles that are sociological in nature. Here are some tips to ensure your articles are sociological.

Note: The best database to find sociological literature is Sociological Abstracts (the link to the database is on the AHSS 1130 Research guide).

1. Check the journal name.

If sociology or sociological appear in the journal title, your article may be sociological in nature.
2. Check the subject terms associated with the article.

If sociology or sociological appear in the subjects or the classification, your article may be sociological in nature.
3. Check the author’s institutional affiliation.

If the author’s affiliation is with a sociology department, your article may be sociological in nature.
